

APRIL 1, 2025 | CAMBRIDGE, MA

Family Office AI Roundtable

Join us for our first AI-centric event designed exclusively for the family office community.

The event will be held at COGO labs, an incubator located in the heart of Cambridge's world-renowned Kendall Square, an innovation district deeply connected to MIT and other hubs of entrepreneurship and innovation within the AI sector.

Day 1: Featured roundtable sessions

- Overview of the Current State of the AI Market
Hosted by Dave Blundin, serial entrepreneur, venture capitalist and MIT professor, one of the world's leading voices in AI and AI investing.
- Investing in the AI Space (Family Office Panel)
Family office investors share how they are evaluating and investing capital into AI, including direct investing, fund investing, and infrastructure and energy-related exposure.
- The Future of AI (Panel Discussion)
Hear industry-leading investors, founders, and industry experts on the future of AI. Our dialogue will include some of the foremost unanswered questions, the potential timeline of AI evolution and technological advancements, and the key risks associated with AI.
- The AI Investing Landscape
Professional investors in the AI space will delve into the niches within the AI market they believe possess the most promising value and opportunity.

Location

One Kendall Square
Alexandria Building #200
Cambridge, MA

Who Should Attend

- In-person registration for this event is for family office members of FOX.
- Family members and single-family office executives interested in exploring AI are encouraged to attend.
- Qualified non-members may attend this event.

Registration

- Registration is included with FOX membership; advance registration is required.
- For more information, contact us at events@familyoffice.com.